"The purpose of the Expo is to celebrate and inform the leaders and citizens of Mississippi of the current use of technology in the Delta region. In addition to commercial vendors, businesses that use technology in their business operations are being recruited to participate to demonstrate existing uses of technology in the region. Educational institutions, national, state, and local governmental agencies, and non-profit other entities have been asked to demonstrate how they are using technology to better meet the needs of their constituents. It is hoped and expected that the result of the DBTE will be a collection of new partnerships of private and public entities that will facilitate the development further technology opportunities to meet the needs of the region."

---Dr. Brent Hales, Director of Center for Community and Economic Development---
